

Acknowledgments

---

We extend a special thank-you to all the teachers and administrators who—directly or indirectly—supported the development or inclusion of the case studies, classroom examples, and authentic snapshots presented in this book: Sarita Amaya, Karen Buckles, Yanick Chery-Frederic, Joyce Dallas, Melissa Eddington, Molly Fuentealba, Susan Dorkings, Alla Gonzalez Del Castillo, Pam Hardy, Carlota Holder, Angela Hudson, Tan Huynh, Natasa Karac, Toshiko Maurizio, Lucia Posillico, Katie Toppel, Jennifer Visalli, and Jennifer Wolf.

We appreciate the willingness of all the teachers featured in Chapter 9—who also served as co-authors of their case studies—to share their collaborative experiences: Patricia Beltran, Ashley Blackley, Andrea Calabrese, Allyson Caudill, John Cox, Nick DiBenedetto, Ashley DeKoch, Nicole Fernandez, Mike Garguilo, Rachel Ogimachi, Brittany Schmidt, Faith Tripp, Thad Williams, and Danielle Youngs.

We would also like to acknowledge the technical assistance offered by several Molloy College doctoral research assistants—Donna Cempa-Danziger, Jennifer Delahunt, Nadia Khan-Roopnarine, and Shalinie Sarju.

We thank Dan Alpert for being the most insightful and encouraging editor we could have asked for. We would like to express our gratitude to Dan publicly for believing in this project from the beginning and for supporting it ever since. Our sincere appreciation goes to the entire Corwin team, especially to Mia Rodriguez, Lucas Schleicher, Maura Sullivan, Amy Schroller, and Colleen Brennan, for their work on the manuscript preparation and production process.

We would like to thank all the teachers and professors with whom we co-taught and who helped us develop our own collaborative practices, in particular, Nancy Bart, Dr. Audrey Cohan, Dolly Ging, Eileen Haydock, Dr. Mark James, Joanne Lufrano, Alison Roberts, Dr. Allison Roda, Sandy Rubin, Sandy Schlaff, and Joyce Smithok.

The richness of the content and variety of ideas could not have been possible without the generous input and feedback of those who have attended professional-development trainings with us or participated in our research projects. We also wish to acknowledge individuals who have encouraged us to pursue this project, including all colleagues at Molloy College, Rockville Centre, New York.

Last but not least, without the ongoing support of our immediate and extended families and friends, this book could not have happened. You know who you are, and we love you!