

Executive Functions for Every Classroom, Grades 3-12

Creating Safe and Predictable Learning Environments

Mitch Weathers

Empower the next generation with the executive function skills they need to succeed

Executive function skills are crucial for students' academic success and personal growth. Yet many of our students lack the skills required to engage in learning, such as organization, planning, time management, and self-regulation.

Executive Functions for Every Classroom, Grades 3-12, shows how, by establishing a dependable routine, providing clarity, and modeling critical skills, educators can create a more engaging and effective learning experience while addressing the epidemic of disengagement and executive dysfunction. With practical guidance to make the skills "stick" for students, this vital resource also provides

- Three keys to teaching executive functions: Clarity, Modeling, and Routine
- Discussions on the executive functioning skills essential for student success
- Strategies for practicing executive function skills in context
- Practical guidance for establishing a consistent and safe learning environment

With the help of this innovative, research-backed resource, educators can empower students to take more risks, improve their academic performance, and prepare them for the future.
