Current Trends and Legal Issues in Special Education

David F. Bateman, Mitchell L. Yell

School leaders and special educators are expected to be experts on all levels and types of special education law and services, types of disability, and aspects of academic and functional programming. With the increasing demands of the job and the ever-changing climate, many administrators and teachers are overwhelmed, and few feel adequately prepared to meet demands.

Current Trends and Legal Issues in Special Education helps you build and support timely, legally sound, and effective special education services and programs. Readers will find:

- up-to-date information on how to implement programs, processes, and procedures
- extensive references and resources
- examination of issues, from developing and implementing individual education programs that confer a free appropriate public education, Section 504, least restrictive environment, and collaborating with parents, to issues regarding accountability, staffing, bullying, early childhood special education, multi-tiered systems of support, evidence-based practices, transition, discipline, and the school-to-prison pipeline
