

How Much Time Are Readers Actually Working?

Analyze the amount of time you have for reading workshop. Fill in the pie chart to represent what percentage of time you are teaching and students are working.

Now estimate the amount of time during the day that you are talking and students are talking. Consider the “60/40 Rule”—students should be talking 60% of the time, and teachers 40%. Think about how small group discussions might help you maintain this golden ratio.
