

February 27

The Man Who Couldn't

So every story pretty much has a happy ending. For instance, all of the princess stories, the Harry Potter series, the Percy Jackson series, I could go on for centuries. But I want to change that. . . .

There once was a guy <sup>(he)</sup> who was named Harold and he had the best life until he went to the store and bought a rotten tomato with worms in it. When he bit into it he felt the most horrific sensation anyone has ever sensated. He would be known for the man <sup>(he)</sup> who had the worst sensation ever. He spit out the rotten, black, wormy tomato and washed his mouth out . . . with soap. Then he went to work and got some coffee. . . .

It was filled with rotten milk. Then he tried to do his famous back flip for a man <sup>(he)</sup> who bet he couldn't do it. . . .

He ended up having a back surgery after being rushed to the hospital. The other man <sup>(he)</sup> won $50.00. This was the story of the man who couldn't get picked to be in a happy story.

—Claire Weingart
Grade 6