

November 13

The thing I'm most proud of more ^(more than) than anything in the world is my little brother Angel.

He has been growing up really fast. I see him and it reminds me of when I was his age.

The best part of having a brother is that you do more sports ^(more than) than what you do with a sister. That is my opinion.

I teach him Spanish and Turkish. I got Spanish and Portuguese from my roots, which is easier than learning the language in a school. I got Turkish from what they taught me in my old school.

It's fun having a little brother, but the disadvantages are him telling your mother about the bad things you do rather ^(more than) than the good things you do for him. Another disadvantage is that he is much smaller ^(more than) than you are, so you have to take care of him. But after you teach him what to do and what not to do, it's really fun having a little brother.

The hobbies I teach him are drawing, soccer, and a lot more. But after all the fighting we're still best friends and brothers for life!!

—Jacob Torres
Grade 7