

Effect is a noun

Proof:

a/an _____, the _____,
some _____.

Ex:

(an effect, the effect, some effect)

Weather has an effect on her moods.

PRACTICE THE CONVERSATION:

A: Will you please read the sentence?

B: Weather has an effect on her moods.

A: How do you spell effect?

B: E-f-f-e-c-t.

A: I'm sorry, but you have the wrong word.

B: No, I believe it's the right word.

A: How do you know?

B: Effect is a noun.

A: What's the noun proof?

B: An effect, the effect, some effect.

A: So prove that effect is a noun here?

B: *Weather has an effect, the effect,
some effect. On her moods.*

A: . . . Perfect. That is the right word.

