

August 29

Have you ever wondered what your mission is in life? Last night, I didn't fall asleep

(ending phrase)

till around 11pm, because I was thinking about that one simple, but yet so complex

(ending phrase)

question. Not in a depressing way or anything. Just out of curiosity. If I'm to become a pharmacist, I don't want to just sit behind the counter, asking people for their name and what they've come to pick up. I'd like to help people. Make a difference. Find a cure.

(ending phrase)

Find a replacement for evil shots. Shots are and always have been one of my worst fears.

—Tori Shiver
Grade 8