My Reading Goals: Student Sample

Volume: I was able to finish about a book a week by reading in class and a little bit outside of class some days on the bus to games or if I didn't have a lot of homework. But now I'm reading Unbroken, and it's going a lot slower. It's hard because there's a lot of information about World War II that I don't know about. In order to finish this book in less than two weeks, I need to find more time outside of school. I'm going to try reading on the weekends before I start my other homework.

Habits: I really don't like doing a lot of writing about reading, but it's making the writing assignments hard to do because I don't have a lot of notes. In order to write about Unbroken, I need to keep notes from my research and from my reading. I'm going to start keeping sticky notes with me when I read.

Genre: I'm surprised that I like this nonfiction book. Carlos suggested it, and it's really good. I usually read fiction. I'm going to try another book by Laura Hillenbrand after this. My teacher wants me to try some poetry, too. I'm not sure about that yet. I tried a poetry book, and it was kind of boring. But I will try a biography before the end of the marking period.
