

Tips for Parent Math Nights

- ♦ Consider the name you choose when inviting parents to a Parent Math Night, as that could influence your attendance.
- ♦ Involve other educators as much as possible. For coaches or school leaders, these events are a great opportunity to provide job-embedded mathematics professional learning and also empower teachers to be leaders. Set aside common planning time or coaching meetings to help teachers plan a workshop they could lead at a Parent Math Night.
- ♦ Provide childcare even if the event is not for children.
- ♦ Provide food if held during a typical meal time.
- ♦ Survey your community before deciding they need this style of event.
