

Acknowledgments

I would like to thank my family and friends for their patience with me while I wrote this book. I would especially like to thank my editor, Dan Alpert, for his enthusiasm for this book, support in making it happen, and valuable feedback throughout the writing process. I would like to acknowledge the following amazing people in the Corwin family: Mike Soules, Lisa Shaw, Kristin Anderson, Kimberly Greenberg, Katie Crilley, Melanie Birdsall, and Charline Maher. I feel so fortunate to be part of the Corwin team.

I have benefited greatly from collaborating with educators in school districts, the provincial literacy leads and education officers in the Curriculum and Assessment Policy Branch at the Ontario Ministry of Education, Corwin authors and consultants, and friends from Learning Forward and the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education. I look forward to engaging in many more enriching conversations about issues related to improving student outcomes.

Finally, I'd like to acknowledge my husband, Jim Donohoo. This book was made possible because of Jim's encouragement, selflessness, and support.