The Education We Need For A Future We Can't Predict

Improve Schools and Transform Education

Thomas Hatch, Jordan Corson, Sarah Gerth van den Berg

In order for educational systems to change, we must reevaluate deep-seated beliefs about learning, teaching, schooling, and race that perpetuate inequitable opportunities and outcomes. Hatch, Corson, and Gerth van den Berg challenge the narrative when it comes to the “grammar of schooling” - or the conventional structures, practices, and beliefs that define educational experiences for so many children—to cast a new vision of what school could be. The book addresses current systemic problems and solutions as it:

- Highlights global examples of successful school change
- Describes strategies that improve educational opportunities and performance
- Explores promising approaches in developing new learning opportunities

This provocative book approaches education reform by highlighting what works, while also demonstrating what can be accomplished if we redefine conventional schools.

"You won't find a better book on system change in education than this one. We learn why schools don't change; how they can improve; what it takes to change a system; and, in the final analysis, the possibilities of system change. Above all, The Education We Need renders complexity into clarity as the writing is so clear and compelling. A powerful read on a topic of utmost importance."
