

Engaging Parents and Families in Grading Reforms

Thomas R. Guskey

Educators seeking to transform age-old grading practices face numerous challenges, particularly when it comes to gaining support from students' families. This practical guide from a world-renowned expert on grading and assessment practices offers concrete strategies to turn parents and families into trusted partners in grading reform efforts. The book enables educators to anticipate, understand, and effectively address families' concerns over grading reforms and build trust through authentic engagement.

With clear and actionable strategies that educators can implement right away, the easily digestible chapters unpack the complexities of the change process, clarify the purpose of grading, and show how to enhance the use of computerized grading programs. Other features include:

- Strategies to ease opposition to grading reform from parents and families
- Insights into how to improve report cards
- Guidance on how to effectively communicate student performance with parents and families

A must-have resource for educators navigating the challenging journey of grading reform, Engaging Parents and Families in Grading Reform is a comprehensive guide to grading reform that emphasizes family engagement to ensure success.

$27.95, ISBN: 9781071921289

FIVE STAR REVIEWS

"Parents need a compass, direction, and understanding as to what we're up to. ... With this book, Dr. Guskey has supplied precisely that."

—Myron Dueck,
Vice-Principal for Communicating
Student Learning, Okanagan Skaha
School District No. 67