

RESOURCE 4.6 FOR MULTILINGUAL LEARNERS

When I Listen, Read, and View

This checklist shows what you can do when listening, reading, or viewing in one or more languages.

My Name: _____ Date: _____

Language(s) _____

When listening, reading, or viewing in English or my other language, I can:

- follow oral directions
- follow written directions
- sequence pictures, sentences, or paragraphs
- identify information in graphs or tables
- locate information in different materials
- draw figures or charts based on oral or written instructions
- illustrate or highlight oral or written narratives
- construct models from oral or written instructions
- respond to questions about podcasts or watch videos/online presentations
- match ideas to visual, written, or oral text.

When working with peers, I can:

- participate in different tasks
- follow oral directions in playing games
- construct models, figures, or tables from videos
- classify, sort, or sequence information.

When working in small group activities, I can:

- listen carefully during book talks or oral readings
- participate in dramas or re-enactments of text

(Continued)

(Continued)

- select and investigate topics of interest
- share a computer screen remotely or other digital devices to look for answers to questions
- draw murals that represent important ideas.