District Roundtable Video

Two Connecticut districts highlighted in Chapter 7 sat down for a roundtable discussion prior to copresenting with Amy and Patrick at the 2016 Learning Forward Conference, Connecting Landscapes for Learning, in Vancouver, British Columbia.

The focus of the discussion was to share how their professional learning approaches for instructional leadership supported teachers by shifting observations from a simple assessment of teacher practice to a careful examination of student learning, creating more substantial and meaningful outcomes from their ongoing supervision and evaluation practice.

Check out the following blog post, which includes both an abbreviated and extended discussion with these district and school leaders.
